Course Description and Fundamental Concepts

Students learn to prepare, analyze and argue propositions presented in the contexts of model congress, policy debate, mock trial, and international relations. Emphasis is on the techniques of speaking, logic, critical thinking, and reference skills. Students are given the opportunity to participate in the South Jersey Debate League, the National Forensic League, and the Mock Trial Team as well as various Model Congress and Model United Nations competitions.

The course is designed for students looking to enhance expression of thoughts and expand methods of persuasion. Students with political interests will find the course a natural fit, but the course remains relevant to all students pursuing critical thinking skills. Participation in competitive debate extracurricular activities is not required, but consideration should be given. Prerequisites: Honors Argumentation and Debate I

Subject/Content Standards

Include grade appropriate subject/content standards that will be addressed

Era 2. Revolution and the New Nation (1754–1820s)

The war for independence was the result of growing ideological, political, geographic, economic, and religious tensions resulting from Britain’s centralization policies and practices. The United States Constitution and Bill of Rights were designed to provide a framework for the American system of government, while also protecting individual rights. Debates about individual rights, states’ rights, and federal power shaped the development of the political institutions and practices of the new Republic.

Unit Addressed	Core Idea	Performance Expectations
1, 3	Constitutions, laws, treaties, and international agreements seek to maintain order at the national, regional, and international levels of governance.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• 6.1.12.CivicsPI.2.a: Prepare and articulate a point of view about the importance of individual rights, separation of powers, and governmental structure in New Jersey’s 1776 constitution and the United States Constitution.• 6.1.12.CivicsPI.2.b: Examine the emergence of early political parties and their views on centralized government and foreign affairs and compare these positions with those of today’s political parties.

Era 5. The Development of the Industrial United States (1870–1900)

Technological developments and unregulated business practices revolutionized transportation, manufacturing, and consumption, and changed the daily lives of Americans. The Industrial Revolution and immigration had a powerful impact on labor relations, urbanization, the environment, cultural values, and created tensions between ethnic and social groups.

Unit Addressed	Standard #	Standard Description
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	RH.11-12.1.	Accurately cite strong and thorough textual evidence, to support analysis of primary and secondary sources, attending to such features as the date and origin of the information.
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	RH.11-12.2.	Determine the theme, central ideas, information and/or perspective(s) presented in a primary or secondary source; provide an accurate summary of how key events, ideas and/or the author's perspective(s) develop over the course of the text.
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	RH.11-12.3.	Evaluate various perspectives for actions or events; determine which explanation best accords with textual evidence, acknowledging where the text leaves matters uncertain.
Units 1, 2,3,4	RH.11-12.4.	Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including analyzing how an author uses and refines the meaning of a key term over the course of a text (e.g., how Madison defines faction in Federalist No. 10).
Units 1, 2,3,4	RH.11-12.5.	Analyze in detail how a complex primary source is structured, including how key sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text contribute to the whole.
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	RH.11-12.6.	Evaluate authors' differing perspectives on the same historical event or issue by assessing the authors' claims, reasoning, and evidence.
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	RH.11-12.7.	Integrate and evaluate multiple sources of information presented in diverse formats and media (e.g., visually, quantitatively, qualitatively, as well as in words) in order to address a question or solve a problem.
Units 1, 2,3,4	RH.11-12.8.	Evaluate an author's claims, reasoning, and evidence by corroborating or challenging them with other sources.
Units 1, 2,3,4	RH.11-12.9.	Integrate information from diverse sources, both primary and secondary, into a coherent understanding of an idea or event, noting discrepancies among sources.
Units 1, 2,3,4	RH.11-12.10.	By the end of grade 12, read and comprehend history/social studies texts in the grades 11-CCR text complexity band independently and proficiently.
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	WHST.11-12.1.	Write arguments focused on discipline-specific content.

		A. Introduce precise, knowledgeable claim(s), establish the significance of the claim(s), distinguish the claim(s) from alternate or opposing claims, and create an organization that logically sequences the claim(s), counterclaims, reasons, and evidence. B. Develop claim(s) and counterclaims using sound reasoning and thoroughly, supplying the most relevant data and evidence for each while pointing out the strengths and limitations of both claim(s) and counterclaims in a discipline appropriate form that anticipates the audience’s knowledge level, concerns, values, and possible biases. C. Use transitions (e.g. words, phrases, clauses) to link the major sections of the text, create cohesion, and clarify the relationships between claim(s) and reasons, between reasons and evidence, and between claim(s) and counterclaims. D. Establish and maintain a style and tone appropriate to the audience and purpose (e.g. formal and objective for academic writing) while attending to the norms and conventions of the discipline in which they are writing. E. Provide a concluding paragraph or section that supports the argument presented.
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	WHST.11-12.2.	Write informative/explanatory texts, including the narration of historical events, scientific procedures/ experiments, or technical processes. A. Introduce a topic and organize complex ideas, concepts, and information so that each new element builds on that which precedes it to create a unified whole; include formatting (e.g., headings), graphics (e.g., figures, tables), and multimedia when useful to aiding comprehension. B. Develop the topic thoroughly by selecting the most significant and relevant facts, extended definitions, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples appropriate to the audience’s knowledge of the topic. C. Use varied transitions and sentence structures to link the major sections of the text, create cohesion, and clarify the relationships among complex ideas and concepts. D. Use precise language, domain-specific vocabulary and techniques such as metaphor, simile, and analogy to manage the complexity of the topic; convey a knowledgeable stance in a style that responds to the discipline and context as well as to the expertise of likely readers. E. Provide a concluding paragraph or section that supports the argument presented.
Units 1, 2,3,4	WHST.11-12.4.	Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.

Units 1, 2,3,4,5	WHST.11-12.5.	Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach, focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific purpose and audience.
Units 1, 2,3,4	WHST.11-12.6.	Use technology, including the Internet, to produce, share, and update writing products in response to ongoing feedback, including new arguments or information.
Units 1, 2,3,4	WHST.11-12.7.	Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem; narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate; synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.
Units 1, 2,3,4	WHST.11-12.8.	Gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources, using advanced searches effectively; assess the strengths and limitations of each source in terms of the specific task, purpose, and audience; integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and overreliance on any one source and following a standard format for citation.
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	WHST.11-12.9.	Draw evidence from informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.
Units 1, 2,3,4,5	WHST.11-12.10.	Write routinely over extended time frames (time for reflection and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of discipline-specific tasks, purposes, and audiences.
